

KAMAN AEROSPACE AWARDED CONTRACT TO ASSEMBLE FUSELAGE COMPONENTS FOR VARIOUS SIKORSKY HELICOPTERS

BLOOMFIELD, Conn. (October 18, 2005) -- Kaman Aerospace Corp. announced today that it has received a contract from Sikorsky Aircraft Corp. to assemble mechanical fuselage subassemblies for various models of Sikorsky helicopters, including the UH-60 BLACK HAWK and S-76 models. The contract value is $6.4 million.

The program contains nearly 400 different components, with subassembly deliveries scheduled to start in October 2005 and continuing through December 2006. All work will be performed at Helicopters Division facilities in Bloomfield, Conn. In January 2005, the company received a contract from Sikorsky to manufacture cockpits for various models of the BLACK HAWK helicopter. That work is being performed at Kaman's Aerostructures Division facilities in Jacksonville, Fla.
