

Australia Industry Involvement on the Kaman SH-2G(A)

Australian Air Show 2005, Avalon, Victoria, Australia, March 15, 2005 – Kaman Aerospace International Corporation has, to date, delivered over AD$100M offset value for development, manufacture and support activities in Australia. Total Australia-New Zealand commitments by Kaman have exceeded contractual industry involvement commitments by over fifty percent.

“This program has provided a significant boost for Australian Defence Industry,” said Kaman’s Manager of Industry Involvement, Ken Matts. “We originally believed the All requirement on the SH-2G(A) program to be quite aggressive. However, as partners and key suppliers came on line we quickly outpaced our original commitment to Australian Industry. This has become and continues to grow as a truly Australian Program and Product.”

In addition to the SH-2G Maritime Helicopter, Kaman’s Aerospace segment markets the company’s K-MAX Aerial Truck helicopter, subcontract Aerostructures, designs and manufactures safe, arm and fuze devices for missiles and bombs, and is a leading manufacturer of specialty aircraft bearing products for the commercial and military aircraft.

Kaman Corporation (NASDAQ: KAMNA) conducts business in the aerospace, industrial distribution and music markets.
